ACM AWARENESS SESSION 2025 Report

Introduction:

The DIET ACM Student Chapter successfully conducted an ACM Awareness Session on June 24, 2025, at Seminar Hall 1. The session was aimed at introducing students to the values, opportunities, and global recognition associated with ACM (Association for Computing Machinery). The event drew an enthusiastic crowd of 150+ students across various engineering departments.

The session was organized under the guidance of Dr. K. Sujatha (Convener) and coordinated by Ms. K. Satyavathi

Objectives:

- Create awareness about ACM's mission and benefits
- Encourage students to participate in global technical communities
- Showcase opportunities such as research publications, conferences, and student chapters
- Highlight the impact of ACM membership on personal and professional development

Session Highlights:

The session began with a welcome address by the convener, followed by a detailed presentation on:

- What is ACM?
- Why Join ACM?
- Membership Benefits (Digital Library access, student networking, mentorship)
- ACM Activities at DIET (Workshops, contests, guest lectures, SIGs)
- Success Stories of ACM Members
- How to Become a Member

Interactive Q&A and live testimonials from existing ACM student members added a personal touch and resonated well with the audience.

Audience Engagement:

The session witnessed high levels of engagement:

- 150+ students attended, across CSE, ECE, and IT branches
- 50+ students expressed active interest in joining ACM post-session
- Students raised insightful questions about publication processes, SIGs, and international collaborations
- A live demo was conducted on how to register for ACM Student Membership

Impact & Feedback:

Participant Feedback:

- Gained clarity on ACM's vision and student involvement
- Motivated by success stories and global exposure opportunities
- Interested in contributing to technical SIGs and organizing events

Participant Feedback:

- Excellent turnout and attentive audience
- Interactive delivery and practical examples kept the session dynamic
- Potential to convert interest into chapter growth and project-based learning

Conclusion:

The ACM Awareness Session served as a pivotal step in boosting student interest and engagement in ACM activities at DIET. By demystifying the purpose and perks of ACM membership, the event laid a strong foundation for the chapter's future growth.

Moving Forward:

- Initiate a membership drive for interested students
- Conduct follow-up sessions and SIG enrollments
- Encourage students to attend regional/national ACM conferences
- Plan periodic ACM Orientation for new batches
